Dear Lanier,

I well remember the generational change you made at the De Young with the the Rainbow Show which must have been in 1975. The museum was becoming irrelevant in many ways, old fashioned and not in tune with what was going on in San Francisco. The new generation cried out for an exhibition that connected to the community. Your efforts paid off handsomely for the museum with greatly improved attendance. The sea of change was your doing.

All the best.....
